Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-7, 8-18, 33-37, 39, 40, and 42-46 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The instantly claimed invention is allowable over the cited prior art, based on the filing of a proper Terminal Disclaimer, which obviates an obviousness-type double patenting rejection over US Patent 5,749,937 and because the cited prior art fails to disclose wherein a reactant stream is introduced into an injection line at one end of axial reactor and independently introducing a heating gas into the injection line for mixture with the reactant stream and thoroughly mixing the reactant stream with the heating gas within the injection line to produce a thoroughly mixed reactant stream prior to entry into a reactor chamber.

Anderson discloses an arc torch chemical reactor, which relates to chemical reactions promoted by energy from a wall-stabilized electric arc. More particularly the process relates to an improved process and apparatus for the production of acetylene from methane, which employs a gas stream comprised of hydrogen. The reactant stream is passed through an axial reactor and mixed with a heating gas (see Figs. 1-3 and col. 4, lines 38-70). The temperature is maintained at 5000 K, which is a uniform temperature over the length of the reaction zone (col. 5, lines 40-42). Anderson continues to disclose wherein the reactor comprises an insulating layer comprised of carbon, as well as zirconia (col. 5, lines 1-6). However, Anderson does not disclose thoroughly mixing the reactant stream with a heating gas within the injection line.

Art Unit: 1754

The Examiner has cited Davis et al., which teaches a process of carrying out high temperature, chemical reactions, including reductions for producing elemental metal powders using a plasma generator (see abstract). Davis et al. continues to disclose wherein the stabilizer gas (the heating gas), which is used to generate the plasma may also comprise a reactant gas (col. 5, lines 23-27). Davis et al. continues to disclose wherein the feed gas and the reactant gas are carried by the plasma into an axially extending reaction member (within an injection line; col. 5, lines 31-38). Davis et al. teaches wherein a plasma reactor may be maintained between temperature ranges of 1800°K to 5000°K.

However, as the claims have been amended, the cited prior art fails to disclose wherein a stream of heating gas is introduced independently of the reactant stream for mixing and wherein the heating gas and the reactant stream are mixed prior to entry into the reaction chamber.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
